

BATTLE ROAD

Battle Road is one of Woburn's conservation areas. This was primarily an old carriage road that once ran from Four Corners to Lexington. This is a great area to go for a hike or walk and check out the old carriage road. The easiest access to this trail is on Briscoe Street off of Revere Road. You will see the sign for the trail as pictured in the first photo. This is a great walk for anyone who lives on Briscoe Street or surrounding street (Revere Rd., Stevin Dr., and Patriot Dr.). You can also access the trail from Diana Drive, the trail runs right behind the houses on this street. The approximate time to walk to the end of the trail (picture #5) and back is 12 - 15 minutes, a great add on to a walk around your neighborhood.

You can go past this fallen tree but the trail does get a little rougher. It will lead you down to Cambridge Road.
